Browning Trail Cameras Defender Wireless Scout Pro

As cellular camera technology continues to advance, so do the products Browning Trail Cameras offers. With the Defender Wireless Scout Pro, Browning offers a high performance cell camera at a reasonable price. With 18MP image capability and 900p HD video, the Scout Pro camera is still capable of delivering the results you deserve, but the adjustable trigger speeds and adjustable flash allows users to create a customized experience to best meet your needs. Additionally, with the ability to download HD images and videos, manage the cameras through a convenient mobile app, and no long-term contracts, users will find the high-performance of these cameras both reliable and easy to use. Available in both AT&T and Verizon models, this camera is capable of performing in a wide range of regions across the U.S.
